

Superdrag, What If You Don't Fly

so long, goodbye. I never cried that much for you but that's a lie, just like the book you're seeing through you don't know why you hate the human things you do but when you die, lover you'll be sorry, sorry cuz when you die - what if you don't fly? your righteous life has only been a stifled chance to find out what that thing was for so take a chance - you don't convince me anymore you need a screw, you need to cast away your blinds cuz when I blew all the elation wasn't mine and when you find oh yeah God was in your mind
a righteous lie, oh yeah, open up your eyes
