

Surfdog7, Grapefruit Girl

I see her walking through the streets and through the avenues i see her sitting in the bars and coffee shops And when she is returning, she got tired eyes but she is never sad driving down the street and the sunlight hits my eyes all the downtown girls like thorns without a rose suddenly it hits me, like it never did before these diamond eyes

hey guys, she gets everythings she wants cocktail bars at midnight, her laughter it is always around talking and drinking, we danced until we were tired the morning is dawning, so great to look into these eyes she is never sad

i am waking up beside her, glad to feel that gentle skin love in the morning, what a great way to let a day begin this girl is like a grapefruit, sweet but with a bitter taste because she is always leaving again?

hey guys, she gets everythings she wants
say it loud...

she is never sad
she is alive