

Survivor, Burning Heart

Two worlds collide, rival nations
Its a primitive clash
Venting years of frustration
Bravely we hope against all hope
Theres so much at stake
Seems our freedoms against the ropes
Does the crowd understand
Is it East versus West
Or man against man?
Can any nation stand alone
In a burning heart
Just about to burst
Theres a quest for answers,
An unquenchable thirst
In the darkest night
Risin like a spire
In the burning heart
The unmistakable fire
In the warriors code
Theres no surrender
Though his body says stop
His spirit cries never
Deep in our soul a quiet ember
Knows its you against you
Its the paradox that drives us on
Its a battle of wills
In the heat of attack
Its the passion that kills
That victory is yours alone
In a burning heart
Just about to burst
Theres a quest for answers,
An unquenchable thirst
In the darkest night
Risin like a spire
In the burning heart
The unmistakable fire