

Survivor, How much love

How can I tell you To put it all in words There is so much left to say But the meaning slips away How