Susan Raye, Fallin' For You

Oh the bells started ringing and the birds started singing
And the clock on the corner struck two
Thunder started crashing and the lightning started flashing
And I knew I was fallin' for you

I was standing on the corner when I knew that I was a goner
The first time you came into view
Well my knees started knocking and my head started rocking
And I knew I was fallin' for you
Oh the bells started ringing...
[banjo]
Well you scared me half to death I could hardly catch a breath
Your smile made my heart go boom
I was almost paralyzed when I looked into your eyes
And I knew I was fallin' for you
Oh the bells started ringing...
And then I knew I was fallin' for you
