

Susanna Hoffs, As It Falls Apart

Save my reservation at the garden gate
At least through the summer and the fall
Good things come to those who wait
Some good, if not all

Sow the seeds of blossoming fate
Watch your flowers bloom
Cast no doubt or shadows grey
The spring will pass too soon

I could live through anything
Take it all to heart
I'll believe it's solid and whole
As it falls apart

Make me a bed a Jupiter would
So I'll sleep deep in the sky
Live in the stars, if only I could
See it all in your eyes

Make me a halo of Saturn's rings
Hold me safe in your arms
I'm no longer a child with childhood dreams
I see you for who you are

I could live through anything
Take it all to heart
I'll believe it's solid and whole
As it falls apart
I could live through anything
Take it all apart
I'll believe it's solid and whole
As it falls apart
As it falls apart
As it falls apart
