

Suziquatro, Hard Headed

(Brown/Straley)

You have burned your bridges
And left the ashes in the distance
You've been a long long way back home
You have crawled and you climbed
And left the ones who care behind
You've worked your fingers to the bone
You used to say that you had found a way to have your cake and eat it too
But now you're feelin' empty
Well you should because nobody ever seems to get through to you

You're hard headed you're hard headed
You're hard headed you're hard headed

You have flaws, you admit it
Believe me you're the one who did it
Now you're feeling sorry for yourself
You were bound for glory
The hero in a success story
You put your feelings on the shelf
You would do anything to win you always said you couldn't stand to lose
But now you're feelin' empty
Well you should because nobody ever seems to get through to you

You're hard headed you're hard headed
You're hard headed you're hard headed

You would do anything to win you always said you couldn't stand to lose
But now you're feelin' empty
Well you should because nobody ever seems to get through to you

You're hard headed you're hard headed
You're hard headed you're hard headed
You're hard headed you're hard headed
You're hard headed you're hard headed
Your mamma said you're hard headed
Everyone knows you're hard headed
Why dontcha listen hard headed
You're hard headed you're hard headed
You're hard headed you're hard headed
