Swing Out Sisters, Sugar Free

Do you ever really stop to wonder Playing games that you play That our dreams couldn't last any longer While the world passed us by You took my dreams and destroyed them completely Dying in the morning light Don't want to be just another trip you step over Now we're running out of time

(chorus) You've grown so cold, so low I just can't stand it any longer You won't find a taste so sweet Forever gonna be sugar free

You've given in to lies and suspicion A lonely way to survive Now you're forever looking over your shoulder Until your last breath of life Baby will you ever stop till you're someone Or find a place to belong Dying to clear a space in all this confusion Before the sweetness is gone

Chorus

Where's the love like jesus The shiver of the flesh pleases Even the coldest soul makes you whole Count me in, one to ten Discrete and sentimental Warm as a gentle breeze outside See your reflection in my black eyes

Chorus twice

Where's the love like jesus The shiver of the flesh pleases Even the coldest soul makes you whole Count me in, from one to ten Discrete and sentimental Warm as a gentle breeze

Ask my ego, ask my pride, outside See your reflection in my black eyes In my eyes Ask my ego, ask my pride Even the gentle soul makes you whole Pick your paradise...
