

Switched, Four Walls

I lost my head again
Threw away my only friend
For just one night, to feel alive
And I slit my wrists for that bitch!
Without thinking a bit!
How could I be so dumb, to think she'd stay

Run away, run away. Run away, run away.
Run away, runaway. Run away, run away

The air is tense I feel pathetic
My life's spinning on a wheel
Into another, state of affliction
Can't seem to get myself through this hell

I need to find a better way
I need to find a better way

I've blown all that I'm worth
What's left is nothing but hurt
All the blood has been stripped and lost
I don't even like me
I'm not something pure
Turn on the light before I fade away

The air is tense I feel pathetic
My life's spinning on a wheel
Into another, state of affliction
Can't seem to get myself through this hell

Inside these four walls, Inside these four walls
Inside these four walls, Inside, I explode

Escape into another world to get me far away from here
And I, expect too much from me 'cause
I've been throwin' my life away
I've thrown my life away
I've thrown my life away

I need to find a better way (x7)

The air is tense I feel pathetic
My life's spinning on a wheel
Into another, state of affliction
Can't seem to get myself through this hell

I need to find a better way
I need to find a better way