Switchfoot, Erosion

Rain is a bad reminder of everything I don't want to know Rain is a backseat driver that takes me where I don't want to go And it looks like the sky is caving in again I'm dry and cracked, the sky goes black And tut, tut, it looks like rain

Erosion
Oh, Spirit, fall like rain on my thirsty soul
Erosion
Oh, sweet erosion, break me and make me whole

The thirstiest grounds can't take the rain My undecided vices washing on down the drain And it looks like the sky is caving in again My heart is cracked, the sky goes black And tut, tut it looks like rain

Oh, Erosion, would You wash away my sins? Oh, Erosion, I need a second shot again Oh, Erosion, would you break my heart again? Oh, Erosion, I am a broken-hearted man
