

Syndicate Dream, The Side I'll Never Show

Doctor, can't you see that I'm trying
The explanation just hasn't been found
Doctor, no one knows when I'm frying
I slam the door when the feeling comes 'round and
Every cloud has a silver lining
Every down has an answer, I know
But in my heart there's no light shining
Just emptiness and gaded glow
Raining down on the side I'll never show

Doctor, it's the hardest season
I said wait for the down and let go
Doctor, without the slightest reason
I've become a man that I don't want to know and
Every cloud has a silver lining
Every down has an answer, I know
But in my heart there's no light shining
Just emptiness and gaded glow
Raining down on the side I'll never show

Yeah, every cloud has a silver lining
Every down has an answer, I know
But in my heart there's no light shining
Just emptiness and faded glow
Raining down on the side I'll never show

Doctor, I believe that I heard
Callind down from beyond the flood
Doctor, in my heart there was murder
There wasn't no body and there wasn't no blood and
Every cloud has a silver lining
Every down has an answer, I know
But in my heart there's no light shining
That's a side I'll never show
That's a side that I'll never, never, never, never show
