

System Shock, No Life, No Home

This corner is my home
This darkness is my own
I am awake but wake me not
There is no life - there is no home

Whatever brought us here?
Whoever runs the show?
It's never ending
We're all alone

The sky is mine
And that's all I'll ever get
The sky's down
And there's a voice in my head

The sun is setting for good
There is no journey back home
Forever shouting alone
There are no questions to ask
There is no journey back home
Forever singing this song

Just speak of ages
You were felling conscious of the truth
But there are things that cannot be undone
And our ship is our tomb

Forever locked in here
Forever locked and out of place
Forever going nowhere
Forever lost in space

The sky is mine
And that's all I'll ever get
The sky's down
And there's a voice in my head

The sun is setting for good
There is no journey back home
Forever shouting alone
there are no questions to ask
There is no journey back home
Forever singing this song

Forever is not for long
For no moment ever last long enough
Forever is not long enough
It's as painful as truth

Forever is not for long
For no moment ever last long enough
Forever is not long enough
It's as painful as truth of death
