

T-Bone Walker, Description Blues

I was in love with a married woman, an I just couldn't help myself

help myself

But I don't go 'round breakin' up families, an' that's the reason why I left

She looked at me like she could kill me, when I said that we were through

that we were through

I'm on the side that's doin' the buildin', and not the wreckin' crew

There are so many women, that are footloose an fancy free

There are so many single women, that are footloose an fancy free

So why should I fool with a married woman, who can't can't do a thing for me?
