

Tad Dreis, Lottery Of Love

I don't know how much I can take
Of going Dutch for such high stakes
I want to win it all, I want to share it
I want to love you without comparing
The split of emotional earnings
Cause it's just a lottery of love

You'll only lose what you put in
And that's just half of what you might win
Place your bet with me, a bigger wager
Together, we might be major

And never again
Have to split up our winnings
In the lottery of love

The lottery of love
Has landed me deep in debt
It's gotten me ticket stubs
I've got the best collection yet

The lottery of love
only pays off once or twice
But wouldn't it be nice?
It's worth the price

There's not much else that I can say
I wish you'd change the way you play
It's not a game to me, but I like it
All the same, I'd rather strike it together

And never be tethered
We'll sever from the lottery off love
Yeah, they'll hate to see us go
From the lottery of love
