

Tad Morose, Voices Are Calling

Time is spinning around me like sparrows flying high
Live to learn the questions concerning what's right or wrong
Fading horizons the moment of truth has come
Darkness surrounds me as the final breath

Look through the skies
Far beyond the clouds
Telling me what do I see

Silence surrounds me as I'm falling deeper and deeper
I can't feel no pain as I'm leaving the past behind
Time has no meaning and I'll never see the sun again
Is it all for real as I'm leaving the past behind

Hate is all I've got left
I wonder if I've got it right
Now I know I've been wrong
Tomorrow is yet to come

Fear the hate within you
It's coming to reclaim what's yours
Future and past, now and then
All in one and still to come

Look through the skies
Far beyond the clouds
Telling me what do I see

Silence surrounds me as I'm falling deeper and deeper
I can't feel no pain as I'm leaving the past behind
Time has no meaning and I'll never see the sun again
Is it all for real as I'm leaving the past behind

I am losing the track of time how much deeper can I fall
Surrounded by my thoughts
By my thoughts of it all

Now I know it's true
As I'm falling into nothing else
Memories calling my name but I know that I've ceased to be