

Tally Hall, The Whole World And You

There's lots of pretty people here
Sharing soltries and passing letters and

There's lots of questions answered and Metaphysical astronomical songs

Words first printed all on papers
That seemed too mystical

It's so magical
People that dance and compute that
No one's better than you

La la la
La la la
La la la
La la la

There's kings in distant cities
Who rule their persons and Make them happy and

We won't forget about all the Servisory congratulatory

Even the animals know that something's brewing
And they're all cooing

Cause in the end I'd like to say
no one's better than you

I hope you're happy now
I've revealed the truth
I've even written this whole song about you
And not about me
And not about me

Please don't just laugh and clap right now
This is serious
I'm not delirious

I've waited very patiently
Just to let you know
Who should run the show

Cause we all know these are the facts
Nothing to retract
Nothing too abstract

Concluding in the song
I'll say that
No one's better than you
No one's better than you
No one's better than.....
You
