

Tammin Sursok, Ordinary Day

She never had a break
He was always running late
Did she push too hard
Didn't mean to go that far

He never had no faith
Spent his whole life in the shade
He was never satisfied
He had a different frame of mind

She said
I want you for my own
I never see you anymore
You're always walking out that door

He said
I want some time alone
So don't wait
I'm not coming home

It's just an ordinary day?

Maybe it wasn't meant to be

I guess they didn't even see
Is this love too hard to mend
Is this where the story ends

Just another story told
As I watch it all unfold
It's another day of life
But it's gonna be alright

She said
I want you for my own
I never see you anymore
You're always walking out that door

He said
I want some time alone
So don't wait
I'm not coming home

It's just an ordinary day?

(Repeat chorus)
