

Tanya Tucker, Missing Piece Of Puzzle

You're the sunshine that warms my heart each day
You're the rainbow when gray clouds roll away
You're the melody for the words that my heart's been tryin' to think of
You're that missing piece of puzzle that it takes to put together love
You're the paint on the canvas where an artist spilled his dream
You're something to believe in an answer prayer for me
You're my guiding angel sent from heaven above
You're that missing piece of puzzle that it takes to put together love
You're that missing piece of puzzle that it takes to make my life complete
You're something to remember when I'm down and need to get back on my feet
You're that missing piece of puzzle that it takes to put together love
You're that missing piece of puzzle that it takes to put together love
