

Tapping The Vein, Broken

See? The tide is turning now
And I'm fading, fading
I have no excuses anymore
This is where I wanted to be
You've twisted me out from the inside
And you've hung me in the wind

You are my weakness
You may be my downfall

I'm helpless as you move away
I am empty, aimless
I have no illusions anymore
They just ran right out of me
And every day I'll fight not to miss you
Every day I'll lose

You are my weakness
You may be my downfall
You are my weakness
You may be my downfall

So just leave me here with my tortured heart
Or stay and watch as I cut it out

You're my weakness
You may be my downfall
You are my weakness
You may be my downfall
I don't know really, really what you want from me
No, I don't know what you really want from me
No, I don't know what you really want from me
But you will be my downfall