

Tapping The Vein, Everything

They Tell Me I Have To Get Out Of Bed
They Tell Me I Have To Keep Up My Strength
I've Got To Eat Something
I'm Hoping That The Taste Will Kill Me
I Have Agonized To Find A Different Way

And There Is No Soothing For The Boiling Of My Skin
There Is No Comfort Here

So What If I'm Standing Here?
I Still Hurt From My Hair To My Feet
I Know This Is Nothing Now But Once It Was Everything

They Tell Me I Have To Get Up And Dressed
They Tell Me I Have To Start Getting Out
I've Got To Keep Busy
Maybe Exhertion Will Do Me In
I Have Been Defiled A Thousand Different Ways

There Is No Pressure For The Hemorrhaging
There Is No Healing Me

So What If I'm Walking Now?
I Still Burn Every Time That I Breathe
I Know This Is Nothing Now But Once It Was Everything

It Rips Me From My Dreams
I Swear I Hear Your Voice
I Run From Room To Room To Find You

So What If I'm Walking Now?
I Still Burn Every Time That I Breathe
I Know This Is Nothing
Nothing
To Me This Is Everything
