

Taproot, Path Less Taken

What if we haven't lost our way
What if we haven't lost our minds
And chose to seize the day
What if we know just how to rise and shine
What if we see our circumstances now
Forget the end, bend past!

Here we go again
A past worth saving
At last we're paving
The path less taken

Why not believe in making change
Why not perceive through open minds
Why not be free to go and play
Why not adventure out to find our eyes
Why not ignore the broken promises
Still addressed to lies!

Here we go again
A past worth saving
At last we're paving
The path less taken

Here we go again
A past worth saving
At last we're paving
The path less taken

We breathe in time
We bleed through second chances
Believe in signs
That nothing matters if everything just...

Stays the same...

Stays the same!
Stays the same!
Stays the same!
Stays the same!

Here we go again
A past worth saving
At last we're paving
The path less taken

Here we go again
A past worth saving
At last we're paving
The path less taken
