

Taraxacum, Rainmaker

(Music: D. Klupp - Words: R. Mythiasin)

In these days that we're presently living
So much tension complicating the flow
Too many tribes of this earth in conflict
The fire raging now about to explode!

Humanity is standing at the crossroads
Faced with decisions and its outcome unknown
Looking to the Shaman for wisdom,
We smoke with him and visions start to unfurl!

He spoke of a time of cleansing
When Mother Earth could be defiled no more!

(chorus)

Rainmaker bring down the water,
Washin' all over the earth
For too long we breathe in pollution,
Is that what all mankind deserves?

Sitting in a circle chanting
Smoke fills the air, we fall in trance again
Drumbeats pounding in hypnotic rhythms
Remotely viewing all the future events

Cataclysms devour the coast-lines
The ozone layer has finally collapsed!

(chorus)

Rainmaker bring down the water,
Washin' all over the earth
For too long we breathe in pollution,
Is that what all mankind deserves?

Cleansing of the white man, abusing Mother Earth,
The prophecy unfolding, so cryptic are these words!

(solo Danny)

Is there time to change our fate?
Or is there no time, because it's too late?

(repeat chorus)

Is that what all mankind deserves...
