

Tea For Two, All Too Late

(S. Weber/M. Schumpelt/J.O. Soerup) moonlit balconies, I'm not too far from where You are I am stepping that door and heaven comes to who who waits I wonder why you lost your faith in a gambling spree falling into reveries so quiet in here, so peaceful here a sad affair to know there's no one near me now watch me bleed, I'm bleeding forever

watch me bleed, I'm bleeding forever evening's fading in the candle glow I'm full but I'm feeling empty so many dreams that don't come true I miss Your heart beating next to mine foghorns blowing in the night I'm sailing for some other shore for one so young I feel so cold watch me bleed no, don't pretend that You can justify the pain and the cries it's all too late, my dear your face now like a photograph when it's all too late ...just fading out oh, watch me bleed, watch me bleed I'm bleeding forever
oh, watch me bleed, watch me bleed I'm dying slowly leaving the show
