

Tea For Two, Highlands

(S. Weber/M. Schumpelt/J.O. Soerup)

it was one of those nights with thunder and rain when they marched to take the plunge they kept their wives and children in suspense a month of sundays they carried banners with pride the enemy appeared on the other side but only one of them could get the power but only one of them could be the king