Teen Idols, Historian

Take a moment and remember how things were But don't get stuck there because You're future's still unsure Keep moving forward, there's adventure still in store Make your way because there's always something more

I know good time days were fun, but the good times have just begun Historian

We need hope for things that lie ahead Don't take comfort in the things that cause you dread It's the unknown that makes us run away Don't waste it hiding Reach out and seize the day

It's easy to get lost in a world of yesterdays Can't move ahead when the past is in your way Don't look back at the tracks left in the sand You'll lose your way, with no one to hold your hand
