

Teitur, You're The Ocean

There's too much sky, not enough blue
There's too many questions to why I love you
There's too many clouds, not enough sun
The rain must fall on everyone

I'm fire-you're the ocean
I'm energy-you're the rhythm
Love is somewhere in between
What you believe and what you dream
I'm just trying to make you mine
You're the ocean

There's too much doubt and not enough dare
There's too much decision everywhere
There's too much decision everywhere
There's too much talk and not enough time
Let's close our eyes and not our minds

I'm fire-you're the ocean
I'm energy-you're the rhythm
Love is somewhere in between
What you believe and what you dream
I'm just trying to make you mine

You look for leads, I follow clues
You love to win, I dare to lose
Mostly you're a mind game in my head

You are earth, I am water
I can give you what you're after
You can be the word:I can be the rhyme:
There's really nothing you can do
You're going where I'm going too
Stay beside me, stay beside me
I want you

I'm fire-you're the ocean
I'm energy-you're the rhythm
Love is somewhere in between
What you believe and what you dream
I'm just trying to make you mine
You're the ocean
