

Temporary Basement, Someone Like You

Collapse and cry for you
I must be fortune's fool
I don't care what they've said about us
In time I'll find that someone like you

You were my night and day
How could anybody feel this way?
Long wait for it may be
Finally I'll find that someone like you

Everything for you was wrong
You said I held you back all along
Now there's nothing spared, left to me
Leave already and set me free!

And I'm never gonna see you again
You probably won't remember my face
But I guess you know it's true about you
I loved you, I loved you true!

I guess it's clear to me I'm nothing to you
And in time, I'll have to find someone like you
