

Ten Second Epic, Welcome To Wherever You Ar

Somewhere in the world now
You're getting out of bed
Standing on your own feet
Shake your sleepy head
If you win you take the credit
If you lose you take the blame
No one knows where you are
And they never will again
I can still remember the day you up and left
I swear it was a moment I never will forget
You said you'd take no prisoners
But thats just what you did
You took my heart captive
Hope you know that you are missed
Welcome to your lies
Welcome to goodbye
You see the big world
Through small town eyes
Welcome to the point
The point of no return
Let the past [and fire?] memories burn
I sing
Welcome to wherever you are
I can see you in the doorway
With the daylight flooding in
It must have hid your secrets
I know more than I did then
Looking back I should have noticed
There was a longing in your eyes
And underneath the surface
Theres a truth you could not hide
All the time we spend together
Every night we stayed up late
All the [looks?] that I forgotten
And the plans we never made
Do you ever wonder
About everything you left
Do you question your decisions
Do you ever second guess
Welcome to your lies
Welcome to goodbye
You see the big world
Through small town eyes
Welcome to the point
The point of no return
Let the past [and fire] memories burn
I sing
Welcome to wherever you are
You are
You are
Wherever you
Are
Welcome to your lies
Welcome to goodbye
You see the big world
Through small town eyes
Welcome to the point
The point of no return
Let the past [and fire?] memories burn
I sing
(you are, wherever you are)
Sing
(you are, wherever you...are)
Welcome to your lies

Welcome to goodbye
You see the big world
Through small town eyes
Welcome to the point
The point of no return
Let the past [and fire?] memories burn
I sing
(you are, wherever you are)
Sing
(you are)
Welcome to wherever you are