

Ten Years After, Look Into My Life

(Alvin Lee)

Come into my head, tell me what you see;
Just another dreamer trying to be free,
Look into my life and tell me what you see,
Just another schemer searching for the key.
Just another trucker, just another bum,
Just another jumper always on the run.

Come into my brain, tell me what you find;
Just another searcher scared of going blind,
Look into my life and tell me what you find,
Just another tripper blowing out his mind.
Just another joker, just another tramp,
Just another flyer heading up the ramp.

Come into my love life, tell me what you feel;
Just another hustler trying to be real,
Look into my life and tell me what you feel,
Just another trapper trying to break the seal.

Come into my mind, tell me what goes on;
Just another picker picking at a song,
Look into my life and tell me what goes on,
Just another gambler trying to hit the gong.
