

Teramaze, Emancipation

All alone, you sit and wonder why we are here
Why we die
You can't stop the infusion, the static confusion
Of what we are supposed to be
The war within your soul
Is far beyond our control
It's in him you've got to believe
Can't you see
It's far beyond you and me
Will you believe
That he will set you free
When I look back the moment God touched you
Was when you were slipping away
It shows that the love his hand
Is so much stronger than the love of today
Can't you see
It's far beyond you and me
Will you believe
That he will set you free
