

Terence Trent D'Arby, Be Willing

Be willing to achieve what suits your heart
Be willing to begin leaving your mark
Dig out your buried treasure
Your work of art
And nothing will ever stand between
Heaven and your heart
Be willing to attain your freedom from Hatred and bitterness then carry on
A masterpiece of promise is what you are
And never let nothing stand between
Heaven and your heart
Be willing to forgive an oversight!
Be willing to explore what doesn't bite
Fearlessness is a fountain
That redecorates the dark
And nothing will ever stand between
Heaven and your heart
