

Terra Naomi, Time

If you could wait for me
I'd set you free
From the place where you often hide

And all the pretty things
We've done and seen
Fall away from a clear blue sky

I know you know
You are
The loveliest
In your perfect state
And if my luck should hold
I'll find you alone
I will make it worth your wait

Already gone
Already gone

Time lays her truth on the table
Lays us down easy then prays that we're able
To move past the minutes she gave us
Emerging triumphantly
We know what it means
To be

I don't know where to go
Everybody knows
Your intentions change with the moon

Such a lovely thought
Of everything I'm not
I will pray that you find her soon

I know you know
You are the luckiest
With your tempting fate
And if my love should fold
At least I know
That you made it worth the wait

Oh patient one
Oh patient one

Time lays her truth on the table
Lays us down easy then prays that we're able
To move past the minutes she gave us
Emerging triumphantly
We know what it means
To be

Safe in her arms
Safe in her arms

Time lays her truth on the table
Lays us down easy then prays that we're able
To move past the minutes she gave us
Emerging triumphantly
To be
