

Terri Clark, The First To Fall

I've had love and love's had me
I've been held and been set free
And I have lived enough to know
That you might stay or you might go
So here I am, one more time
Call me brave; Call me blind
I'm gonna count to three
I'm gonna hold my breath
Try not to be afraid,
Though it scares me half to death
I'm out here on a limb
Although I know that it might break
My heart is gonna want you anyway
And if this love has any chance at all
Someone's gotta be the first to fall
The best is just a touch away
We'll make forever day-by-day
It'd be a shame to let this go
How sad to think we'd never know
How the morning light would fall on us
After we lay all night in love
I'm gonna count to three
I'm gonna hold my breath
Try not to be afraid,
Though it scares me half to death
I'm out here on a limb
Although I know that it might break
My heart is gonna want you anyway
And if this love has any chance at all
Someone's gotta be the first to fall
So here I am, one more time
Call me brave; Call me blind
I'm gonna count to three
I'm gonna hold my breath
Try not to be afraid,
Though it scares me half to death
I'm out here on a limb
Although I know that it might break
My heart is gonna want you anyway
And if this love has any chance at all
Someone's gotta be the first to fall