

Tex Williams, Five Feet Deep In Teardrops

I shed a tear for every time you lied
And I can't count how many tears I've cried
A cheatin' heart just brings misery
And that's the kind of heart you gave to me
Though I'm drowning in my sorrows Lord help me hear my call
Cause I'm five feet deep in teardrops and I'm only six feet tall
And it's gettin' deeper

Our love was just a game I always knew a game that only could be one by you
But I gave you my heart just like a fool although you kept on breaking every rule
Though I'm drowning in my sorrows...
