

Thaurorod, Tales Of The End

It's my journey out of this storm
In one that I've been reborn again
When the darkness landed on me
It cuts so deep inside me
I have seen the light in the dark
I know the tales of the end
Once I thought the future was mine
Until I reached the night

Once I believed in you and me
It felt like in a dream
But now I'm left to bleed
Waiting for eternity..

I will need no sails cross the sea
I'm searching for waves to be free
Soul in me is trapped with the greed
My life is fulfilled with my dreams in the end

I've been down, so close to the edge
And circled walls of death
Might be loosing all of my life
What I have left is my pride
How I wish to find you again
But it's not my reality
Wish I could be smiling once more
Without pretending eyes

Once I believed that you and me
Would share my fantasy
But now I dream alone
Waiting for the final shores..

I will need no sails cross the sea
I'm searching for waves to be free
Soul in me is trapped with the greed
My life was fulfilled with the dreams long ago..
