

The Accolade, Pinocchio

Did you ever listen to your heart; it'll tell u that we're falling apart
Like the wind hiding the water, your words say nothing at all
I guess this time you won't hold me when I fall
I'm confused by when you always say
Don't worry baby, this time we'll get by

Chorus:

You stab me in my heart, over and over again
I'm cold now, more than I have been before
Like the sun as it sets on the sea, I'm drowning
Your lies won't let me live at all

We start all over again, just like the first day
Based on lies that you're here to stay
No matter how close you hold me, how deep you'll kiss me,
I'll be broken forever,
And it will be always the same

Chorus

Bridge:

I feel alone now in your arms, your lies can't hurt me anymore,
But what hurts the most that I love you, my baby, my Pinocchio
