

The Action Design, Lounge In Formation

Sitting and waiting for something entertaining to flow from a glowing screen washing right over your brain like a sickening sludge

Lounge in formation

loss of sensation

What is the point of working

all the diligent day

if at the end you come home and say

"What a burden being a person

What a burden being alive"?

All about comfort

we like to walk in a line

We follow those from before us making mistakes (yeah)

time after time

Let's dig deep

let's find out what's inside

Let's never rest and never say

"What a burden being a person

What a burden being alive";

Take some pride in being a person

Take back your eyes

and be alive

Is it human nature

to want to change or

Is it human nature

to want to stay the same?

Is it human nature

to make new rules or

Is it human nature

to learn to play the game?

Is it human nature

to want to change or

Is it human nature

to want to stay the same?

Is it human nature

to make new rules or...
