

The Adventures, Feel The Raindrops

I am injured and confused feel the pressures of my youth.
In my innocence they drag me down there is nothing left to lose.

I feel the raindrops on my head

Watch the sun 'til my eyes turn red

Still I can hear those things you said
you said.

Through the rain I feel your tears

Helps me beat these endless years.
Just one feeling lingers that of sorrow

Now I'm screaming
no one hears.
I feel the raindrops on my head

. . .

I feel the raindrops on my head

. . .

I feel the raindrops on my head

. . .

You said
you said
you said
you said.