

The Agony Scene, Prey

From grace she fell beneath the ashes
That forced her to her knees, cut her open wide
To bleed her body dry of feeling
The wounds will form no scars, only memories

Tearing at the scars she's open wide
Screaming till her lungs collapse
Behind her cold and vacant eyes
The innocence that dies inside

The tears that line her face the anguish
The lies she's fed herself closing loveless eyes
To bleed her body dry the feeling of breath escaping lips closing lifeless eyes

Tearing at the scars she's open wide
Screaming till her lungs collapse
Behind her cold and vacant eyes
The innocence that dies inside

She dies inside

Tearing at the scars she's open wide
Screaming till her lungs collapse
Behind her cold and vacant, the innocence that dies inside