

The All American Rejects, Too Far Gone

I should warn you
things you're feeling
Aren't normal now
Think you need me
It's not easy
Let you go somehow. . .

Now we're too far gone
Hope is such a waste
Every breath you take you give me the burden's bitter taste
You promised that you'd stay
You say you wanna go
Your lips provide a shelter for the things that I don't know

Please speak slowly
My heart is learning
Teach me heartache
Stop this burning now

Wishful thinking
Patience shrinking
Bliss is far away
North is calling
Now I'm falling
At your feet please stay. . .

Now we're too far gone
Hope is such a waste
Every breath you take you give me the burdens bitter taste
You promised that you'd stay
You say you wanna go
Your lips provide a shelter for the things that I don't know

Please speak slowly
My heart is learning
Teach me heartache
Stop this burning
