

The Ark, Let Me Down Gently

Come and lie beside me now, my love
Come, I've always been to shy in love
My voice is narrow
And a boy isn't supposed to cry
until tomorrow:

Let me down gently
Let me down gently
Let me down gently
I'm too young, too afraid of heights to make the jump and fly

Knowing you will always be a trial knowing that you only stay a while My deepest horror
And I know I ain't supposed to cry
I'm safe from sorrow

Let me down gently
Let me down gently
Let me down gently
I'm too young, too afraid of heights to make the jump and fly
