

The Bear Quartet, Boss Dawn

I'm stuck awake another night so I go out where there's a light and the trucks the trains and the sirens traffic through the silence there's so many ways out of here so dream on cross yawn dream of someone good something never understood as I catch the breeze try to hang on to a part of life where I don't belong outside, there's a light