

The Beloved, Righteous Me

the autumn of this winter i've forgotten how to breathe made my mind up three times or more simple life of make-believe my head was in the clouds feet nailed to the floor my right hand held the hammer left knows what my right hand's for but i'm still waiting
it seems to me i spend my whole life anticipating but when i laugh, when i smile i could leap tall buildings, run a mile i laugh and then i smile

i have a house and children i have everything i need voice concern but i don't complain remember i've four mouths to feed
and it seems to me that i've spent my whole life anticipating when i laugh and smile

i could leap tall buildings, run a mile
i laugh and then i smile
so when i laugh and smile
i could leap tall buildings, run a mile
i laugh and then i smile
i do
