

The Ben Taylor Band, Always

She always wants what she can't have
Life is so cruel
She's always good when she's so bad
What can she do?
She's always telling me stories
Always telling me lies
She's opened up for the long run
You can tell her which shows
But she's always thinking of someone
That's how it goes
She always calls me
She's lonely
Always calls me
She needs me
Always, always, always, always, always, always Sometimes she's more than I can take
When she shines on me with a love light
Sweet heaven above
Well body presses against mine
Warm like the shining sun
She only wishes me glory
She only wants to adore me
Always, always, always, always, always, always
Sometimes, sometimes
Always, always, always, always, always, always
Sometimes, sometimes
Always, always, always, always, always, always
She's all that I can take
