

The Benjamin Gate, Drown

did I see you move
in the shadows above
did I hear you speak
was the silence loud enough did I feel you change something deep down inside did I know your touch in a place I will hide

did I pray
this is my state of grace did it break my heart
this dear human race did I taste these tears like water, salt and blood flee this place, seek your face (knowing) freedom from above

I drown in you
I let you in Gates of Jerusalem

did I breathe you in like ice in hot deep air was your presence more like love in my fear
did I know your grace as you forgave as I am
and in this sufficiency know that I am saved

I drown in you
I let you in
Gates of Jerusalem
