

The Better World, Somebody Else

Somebody Else
(Matt Coban)

I wanted more than what you had to give
But nothing is free
Just pretend one day that you can be yourself
Cause that's all I need
It's been hours, I'm still waiting here
There's no turning back from your fear
If I was somebody else
Would I keep on hiding?
Or take out my anger out on the world
If I was somebody else
Would I keep on hiding?
I'm better off running, I'm better off running back to you

When every person around you always seems to let you down
And I'm all you need
Just think about all the things you always put me through
And how far I am from here
It's been hours, I'm still standing here
There's no turning back from your fear
If I was somebody else
Would I keep on hiding?
Or take out my anger out on the world
If I was somebody else
Would I keep on hiding?
I'm better off running, I'm better off running back to you

I'm better off running back to you
