The Birthday Massacre, Queen Of Hearts

He puts the gun to her head She tells him everything Her voice is haunted like a dream He sews the crack in his heart Before he tears her apart In the basement underneath He says,

Never say no to me

He burns her high school pictures And buries old dreams He reads her diary once more He cleans the tears from her eyes He still can't stand to see her cry Her face is broken and sore He says,

Never say no to me