

The Blackout!, Fashion Concious

rain down, rain down
let it cut to the bone
just like my words to you
rain down, rain down
let these wounds never heal
and my heart always bleed through the rain and tiers your eyes hide from me because they now see
truth in disbelief
so i take my knife
from your bleeding heart turn it on myself
and i slit my throat
to bleed like you bleed
slowly draining
to feel the rain
cut deep
with this scar across my neck i wont forget the day that i toke the knife into my hands and waved our lives good bye rain down and wash us away
