

The Blackout Pact, Lapis Lazuli

Jesus gave a pair of lungs
A heart that beats too fast
A set of wings that never even worked

The businessmen they wrap their ties
The women do their hair
And baby you remind me of them

You parked your car up on the curb
That's been you life you said since birth
You just leave it that way

Took a bite of indecision
Tasted what we called conviction
I wish I could stay

Amen said the sinner amen said the saint
They're both fking traitors it'll never be the same
