

The Bouncing Souls, Midnight Mile

I've been dreaming under unfamiliar skies and talking to strangers lost in nights passed in disguise why am i so long?
why can't i say it all in song we come up empty face to face words i wish i could erase

I've been hiding under unfamiliar skies
and talking to strangers lost in nights passed in disguise take this heart and put it with my bones (woahhh) and put them in a box
and send them home
and send them home

we've been dreaming alone under different stars of a thousand smiles and of a thousand scars

you walk me to the sun we walk through the rain we pass through the love and bask in the pain
in the pain
IN THE PAIN!!!! [x2]

I'm a midnight mile from your home can I come in and warm my bones
I'm a midnight mile from your home
can I come in and warm my bones

maybe it's time I get it right maybe this time I'll get it right